

Ted Piccone

Ted Piccone is a Senior Fellow and Deputy Director for Foreign Policy at the Brookings Institution. A foreign policy and legal expert on issues of democracy, human rights, international organizations and U.S.-Latin American affairs, Mr. Piccone has over 20 years experience in government, law and research.

From 2001-2008, Mr. Piccone was the Executive Director and Co-Founder of the Democracy Coalition Project, a research and advocacy organization working to promote international cooperation for democracy and human rights around the world. Mr. Piccone also served as the Washington Office Director of the Club of Madrid, an association of nearly 70 former heads of state and government engaged in efforts to strengthen democracy around the world, and continues to act as an Advisor.

Previously, Mr. Piccone served eight years as a senior foreign policy advisor in the Clinton Administration. He was the Associate Director of the Secretary of State's Policy Planning Staff (1998-2001), Director for Inter-American Affairs at the National Security Council (1996-98), and Policy Advisor in the Office of the Secretary of Defense (1993-1996). Mr. Piccone also served as Counsel for the United Nations Truth Commission in El Salvador (1992-93) and as Press Secretary to U.S. Rep. Bob Edgar (1985-87).

Mr. Piccone has appeared in such media outlets as The Washington Post, The Financial Times, International Herald Tribune, PBS' Frontline/World, and Agence France Presse. He has written and published articles on transitional justice, international organizations, U.S.-Latin American relations and democracy promotion policy. His most recent publications include "That Obama Administration and the Americas: Agenda for Change" (edited with Abraham F. Lowenthal and Laurence Whitehead, Brookings Press 2009); "Talking Sense: Guidelines for International Democracy Promotion," in Democratic Responses to Terrorism (ed. Leonard Weinberg, Routledge Press 2008); Strategies for Democratic Change: Assessing the Global Response (edited with Richard Youngs, FRIDE, 2006); "International Mechanisms to Protect Democracy," in Protecting Democracy: International Responses (Lexington Books, 2004); and Regime Change by the Book: Constitutional Tools to Preserve Democracy (2004). He and Robert Herman co-edited Defending Democracy: A Global Survey of Foreign Policy Trends (2002), a first-ever assessment of democracy promotion policies of 40 governments around the world.

Mr. Piccone received a law degree from Columbia University, where he was Editor-in-Chief of the Columbia Human Rights Law Review and The Jailhouse Lawyer's Manual. At Columbia, Mr. Piccone was a Harlan Fiske Stone Scholar and received a Parker School Certificate in International and Comparative Law and an International Human Rights Fellowship. He received a B.A. in History magna cum laude from the University of Pennsylvania and won the prize for best thesis in American history. He and his wife, Susan Gibbs, reside in Washington with their three children.