

Lois Dickson Rice

Lois Rice is the Miriam Carliner Scholar in Economics Studies at Brookings. Prior to her work at Brookings, Rice was a vice-president with the College Board and senior vice president for government and public affairs with Control Data Corporation.

In addition to serving on a variety of boards, councils, and commissions, Rice has authored or co-authored a number of education and technology-related publications and is called on to speak publically or to testify in the U.S. Congress on these subjects.

She has been recognized by Change magazine as one of the nation's 100 outstanding higher education administrators and by Ebony magazine as one of the 100 most promising black women in corporate America.
