SUMMARY OF EXPERIENCE

- Forty-five years of professional experience.
- Career at World Bank and IMF spanning 35 years (1981-2015). Held leadership positions on global and country programs, with a focus on macroeconomic policies and structural reforms for growth and development. Extensive experience in providing strategic leadership and managing people and programs. Strong track record of intellectual leadership on global economy and development. Considerable experience in international economic and development policy at highest levels, e.g., as lead author of World Bank/IMF flagship publications and major policy papers, World Bank representative at G20 meetings and other major international forums, and Executive Secretary of the World Bank-IMF Joint Ministerial Development Committee. Breadth and depth of experience in leading and managing country programs and operations, including major lending operations, crisis-response operations, development policy dialogue, technical assistance and other knowledge activities. Extensive experience of developing partnerships and engaging at senior levels with a range of actors—governments, bilateral and multilateral institutions, donors, civil society, private sector, academia. Country experience covers all regions of the world. Considerable experience of corporate and management functions at senior levels, including in the World Bank Group strategy and reform process and oversight of investment operations and policies.
- Fellowships in the Global Economy and Development program at the Brookings Institution since 2015. Research and commentary at Brookings has covered a broad range of global economic issues and public policy in advanced and emerging market economies. Recent research has focused on: how technological change led by digitalization and artificial intelligence is transforming economies, economic growth and distribution dynamics, and public policy agendas; and how the global economy and globalization are being reshaped by technological change and other forces such as the shifting geopolitics and the challenges the changing global economic and geopolitical context poses for multilateralism. This research has been published in a range of articles and four books, and has been featured in several public events and in a variety of media outlets.
- Consulting and advisory assignments with several institutions.
- Strong record of publications and speaking engagements on global economy and development.

Prior Employment History and Experience

The World Bank (1987-2015)

- Director, Strategy and Operations, Development Economics Senior Vice Presidency and Office of the World Bank Group Chief Economist (November 2011–August 2015). As Department Director, led the work on strategy development and operations for the Development Economics Senior Vice Presidency and Office of the Chief Economist (DEC). Led DEC's engagement with the World Bank Group reform and change management agenda (strategy, organizational restructuring, budget reform). Led the preparation and Board presentation of DEC Strategy and Business Plan, aligning DEC's work on research, policy advice, data, training and learning, and other knowledge activities such as conferences and online resources with the Bank's operational needs and introducing innovations to bolster the Bank's intellectual leadership on development in a changing global economic context and business environment. Coordination responsibility for matters relating to strategy, operations, and corporate functions across DEC. Management responsibility for DEC's Policy Review and Operations Support unit that supported the Bank's Chief Economist and DEC's engagement with the Bank's operations (Regions and Global Practices); the Development Impact Evaluation (DIME) unit that supported impact evaluation work across the Bank (the largest program of impact evaluations in the world); and the Communications and Outreach unit. Oversight responsibility for several World Bank flagship publications on global economy and development. Led the Bank's engagement with the G20 on the global growth agenda and related work with multilateral institutions (IMF, OECD, WTO, UNCTAD, ILO). Led DEC's review of the Bank's lending and non-lending operations and operational policies and represented DEC at high-level Operations Committee, Operational Vice Presidents, and World Bank Group Business Review meetings. Member of several Bank senior management committees. Acting responsibility for Senior Vice President and Chief Economist in his absence. Frequent speaking engagements at international fora at senior levels.

- Senior Adviser, Office of Senior Vice President Development Economics and Chief Economist (Apr 2006–November 2011). Worked both as senior adviser to the Bank’s Senior Vice President and Chief Economist and as manager of the Policy Review and Operations Support unit, Development Impact Evaluation unit, and Global Monitoring and Development Effectiveness unit. Lead advisory role to the Chief Economist on global economic and development issues, with a special focus on policy response to the global financial crisis. Units managed covered a large program of work spanning research, policy analysis, and operations support. In addition to these managerial and advisory responsibilities, personally led major reports and projects, including the 2008 and 2009 Global Monitoring Reports, and the Bank’s reports on the global growth framework and reform agenda submitted to the G20 summits in 2010, 2011, and 2012. Led a project on scaling up aid and development effectiveness, with a focus on Sub-Saharan Africa, including a report presented to the Board and the Development Committee. Led a Board paper on governance reform and monitoring. Oversaw a major research project on manufacturing development in Sub-Saharan Africa. Led DEC’s review of country assistance strategies, lending operations, and policy papers at high-level Bank-wide meetings. Frequent speaking engagements at international fora.
- Executive Secretary, Development Committee (June 2005–Mar 2006). Managed the agenda, organization, and preparation of documents for meetings of the Development Committee (Joint Ministerial Committee of the Boards of Governors of the World Bank and IMF) and coordinated with related major global economic fora—IMFC, G8/20/24. Handled policy agenda that included the Multilateral Debt Relief Initiative, infrastructure financing, investment framework for clean and sustainable energy, aid financing and aid effectiveness, the Doha trade round, and voice and participation of developing countries. Led the DC communiqué process. Worked directly with the World Bank President and IMF Managing Director in this role. Advised Development Committee Chairmen (Finance Ministers of South Africa and Colombia). Worked closely with Bank and IMF Executive Directors. Managed the Development Committee Secretariat.
- Senior Adviser, Office of Managing Director Operations, and Head of Global Monitoring Secretariat (Jan 2003–June 2005). Established a framework for annual monitoring of and reporting on progress and priorities in the global development agenda, with a focus on the MDGs. Led the first two (2004 and 2005) Global Monitoring Reports, prepared jointly by the staff of the World Bank and IMF in collaboration with partner institutions—UN, WTO, OECD, regional development banks. The reports, discussed by the Development Committee, provided a comprehensive assessment of developing country policies and international actions (financing, trade) in support of growth and development. Managed the Global Monitoring Secretariat. Contemporaneously served as Senior Adviser to the Bank’s Managing Director, Operations.
- Sector Manager/Director, Economic Policy, Poverty Reduction and Economic Management (PREM) Network (2000–2003). As Manager and then Director, headed the Bank’s Economic Policy sector in PREM, which spanned the institution’s macroeconomic and country policy work. Areas of focus included growth diagnostics and policies, fiscal sustainability, management of economic volatility, economic modeling, subnational finance, and trade. Supervised the activities of Bankwide Thematic Groups in these areas. Chaired the Economic Policy Sector Board and served as Secretary to the high-level Bankwide Macro Advisory Group. Member of Bankwide Risk Management Group (country risk). Led reviews of country assistance strategies, lending operations, and policy papers at high-level Bank-wide meetings. Reviewed Country Policy and Institutional Assessment ratings prepared by the Bank’s Regional units. Managed the Economic Policy Department.

- Lead Economist and Country Program Coordinator, Korea (1998–2000). Led the Bank's work on Korea during the East Asian financial crisis, including leading complex negotiations for the largest loans in Bank history that supported Korea's financial and corporate sector restructuring. Led senior-level cross-sectoral teams that prepared analyses underpinning these major lending operations, covering macroeconomic policies, financial system rehabilitation and reform, corporate sector restructuring, reform of corporate governance, and strengthening of social safety nets. Supervised the implementation of these operations. Coordinated with IMF and other creditors who participated in a $55 billion rescue package for Korea. Led the preparation of Korea Country Assistance Strategy. Managed the Korea Country Unit at headquarters.
- Principal/Lead Economist and Country Anchor, Mexico (1995–1998). Led the Bank's economic work and policy dialogue in support of lending operations following the 1994 Mexican financial crisis, with a focus on macroeconomic policy, financial sector restructuring, and pension system/social security reform. Produced a major, two-volume study on Mobilizing Savings for Growth. Participated in financial sector assessments. Led the preparation of Mexico Country Assistance Strategy. Managed the Mexico Country Unit at headquarters.
- Principal Economist, International Economics Department (1994–1995). Led the team responsible for assessment of global economic outlook (economic growth, trade, capital flows, debt), including leading the Bank's flagship Global Economic Prospects report. Led research on capital flows, innovations in services trade, and other dimensions of globalization.
- Senior Economist, Indonesia (1991-94). Responsible for the Bank's analytic work and policy discussions with Government on macroeconomic policies and fiscal management, based in the Bank's resident mission in Jakarta. Produced a major country economic report, another major report on fiscal decentralization, and several other reports and policy papers. Supported lending operations. Prepared submissions for and participated in aid coordination meetings.
- Economist/Senior Economist, Malaysia, Papua New Guinea, and Pacific Islands (1987-1991). Prepared macroeconomic analyses and development policy assessments for countries in this group. Led four country economic reports and a policy-based lending operation. Also led the PNG Country Assistance Strategy and preparations for PNG Consultative Group meetings.

IMF (1981-1986)

- Advisor/Senior Advisor to Executive Director (1981-86). Worked with the IMF Executive Director for Middle Eastern (including Pakistan) and North African countries on a wide range of IMF policy issues and country programs coming before the IMF Executive Board. Prepared papers and statements for meetings of the Executive Board and International Monetary and Financial Committee. Advised senior officials from these countries on Fund policy and operational matters.
