

CONTENTS

	Foreword by Robert Cooper	ix
	Preface	xi
1	How I Ended Up in Afghanistan, February–July 2008	1
2	Signals, 1968, 1979, 2001, 2007	5
3	Dubai, Terminal 2, July 13, 2008	8
4	Kabul	13
5	A Small Travel Library, I	18
6	The First Steps	23
7	“What? They’ve Surrounded Kabul?”	30
8	Winning	33
9	The Neo-Taliban	36
10	A Word of Advice from a Princess	41
11	“The Insubstantial State”	44
12	Arg	49
13	Civilian Casualties, I	53
14	What There Was, What There Should Have Been	58
15	To Coordinate—or to Be Coordinated	62
16	A Small Travel Library, II	69
17	ISAF	72
18	Khyber, 1842, 1878, 1919, 1928	78
19	Indian Holiday	82

20	Snow	84
21	Clear, Hold, and Build	88
22	Civilian Casualties, II	90
23	Obama and Af-Pak, March 29, 2009	93
24	Awkward Neighbors	97
25	A Small Travel Library, III	103
26	A Dream	107
27	Karzai	110
28	Bird's-Eye Views	114
29	Kandahar	117
30	COIN—The Counterinsurgency Manual	121
31	Civilian Casualties, III	126
32	Shia Family Law	128
33	Women	131
34	A Small Travel Library, IV	138
35	Death in August	141
36	The Presidential Elections	145
37	A Way to Reconciliation	150
38	The Future of Af-Pak	153
39	Leaving Kabul, February 2010	158
	Epilogue	161
	Bibliography	165
	Index	169