Undergraduate Coordinator

Department of Economics: 2013 – 2015

Led Effort to reform curriculum to increase number of electives for students, add new courses, and attract more majors; Reformed the assessment process so it was less onerous, while increasing the informational content used to assess undergraduate programs; Created and administered exit survey to graduating seniors; Conducted a bench-marking exercise to evaluate undergraduate program; Assessment report for 2014 was recognized by Provost's Office as "exemplary assessment report. It is excellent, a model in fact of reflecting on student learning and your program!" Reconstituted the UNLV Economics Club. Over 100 students participated in the Club in 2015. In that time the Club held three workshops on SAS and SQL, held four events where alums and local businesses met with students to discuss careers, and met with Brookings Scholars to discuss public policy issues.

Graduate Coordinator

Department of Economics: 2004-2006

As graduate coordinator I worked with faculty to revise the Master of Arts program. These revisions increased the program's quality, attracted more students and improved graduation rates.
