

TIGER: Tracking Indexes for the Global Economic Recovery

By Eswar Prasad and Aryan Khanna

Technical Appendix

April 2022 NOTE: In April 2020, we noted the low availability of data in light of the effects of Covid-19 on the global economy. As of October 2021, the availability of data has improved; however, the data lags are still apparent. As a result, we continue to integrate real-time estimates of forthcoming data alongside the most recent figures from news accounts and data providers to ensure TIGER is up to date. This method has its limitations at a time of heightened economic uncertainty. Where possible, we have made conservative assumptions about the extent of changes in various indicators.

Methodology

In our analysis, we employ a statistical procedure called Principal Component Analysis (PCA) that is used widely in the physical and social sciences to extract indicators that capture common fluctuations among variables in large datasets. PCA is a transparent and straightforward procedure that can easily handle a large number of variables and enables one to construct indicators of comovement across all variables in a dataset or a subset of them. This procedure is ideal for creating the TIGER indexes as it allows us to combine information from different types of economic variables and multiple countries.

Each variable that enters into the PCA is a priori given an equal weight in the calculations. The procedure then assigns different weights to different variables depending on how important they turn out to be in capturing fluctuations in the entire set of variables. PCA is a special case of a more general technique called factor analysis that captures more complicated patterns of lead and lag correlations across the variables—it is important to note that PCA picks up only contemporaneous correlations.

Dataset

Our dataset covers most of the G-20 countries and contains a set of key real, financial and confidence variables. The main constraint in expanding our dataset to cover more variables is the lack of consistent data availability at a high frequency, especially among the emerging markets. For example, it is difficult to get good data on employment levels for the emerging markets. Nevertheless, we have assembled a set of variables on which we were able to get reasonably timely and high-quality data. The countries and variables in our dataset are listed below. Note that composite total indexes include only Advanced Economies and Emerging Market Economies groups.

By Country:

Composite Index – Business Confidence, Consumer Confidence, Capacity Utilization, Employment, Exports, Imports, Industrial Production, GDP Growth, Manufacturing Orders, Retail Sales, Unemployment Rate, Equity Markets, Credit Growth, Ted Spread¹, VIX

Real Activity Index – Capacity Utilization, Employment, Exports, Imports, Industrial Production, GDP Growth, Manufacturing Orders, Retail Sales, Unemployment Rate

Financial Index – Equity Markets, Market Capitalization, Credit Growth, Emerging Bond Spreads, TED Spread, VIX

Confidence Index – Business Confidence, Consumer Confidence

By Indicator Variable:

Advanced Economies, Emerging Market Economies, and Total Indexes are found by aggregating directly across country data. We create composite indexes separately for the groups of advanced economies and emerging markets covering all of the above variables. We also create additional indexes for each of these groups based on each category of variables listed below (real, financial, confidence). Finally, we generate country-specific indicators that cover all the variables for a given country and also variable-specific indicators that cover all countries' data for a given variable.
