Contents

Foreword xi

Acknowledgments xvii

Acronyms and Abbreviations xvii

Introduction
Christopher Sabatini
1

PART I
GEOPOLITICS

ONE
Human Rights: From Evolution to Devolution?
Christopher Sabatini
11

TWO
Positioning Human Rights in China-U.S. Relations
Rosemary Foot
31

THREE
Crossing the "Redline": Engaging Russia in the Multilateral Order
Nandini Ramanujam and Vishakha Wijenayake
50

FOUR
Same Blueprint, New Norms: Regional Organizations, Illiberalism, and the Rise of Contested Global Governance
Alexander Cooley
77

556-106592_ch01_4P.indd 7 16/08/22 7:50 AM

FIVE
Human Rights, Pandemics, and the Infrastructure of Human Rights Institutions
Rana Moustafa
93

PART II
DOMESTIC POLITICS AND INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS POLICIES

SIX
Protecting Human Rights from Exclusionary Populism
Gerald Neuman
123

SEVEN
Evangelicals and Human Rights
Melani McAlister
149

PART III
NEW TECHNOLOGIES AND HUMAN RIGHTS

EIGHT
Technical Standards and Human Rights: The Case of New IP
Emily Taylor, Kate Jones, and Carolina Caeiro
185

NINE
Autonomous Weapon Systems: Accountability Gaps and Racial Oppression
Thompson Chengeta
216

PART IV
REGIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS SYSTEMS

TEN
Populism and the Protection of Human Rights in Europe: The Challenge from Within
Urfan Khaliq
237

ELEVEN

Polishing the Crown Jewel of the Western Hemisphere: The Inter-American Commission on Human Rights

Santiago Canton and Angelita Baeyens

257

TWELVE

Caught between Geopolitics, Democratic Regression, and the "Sovereign Backlash": The African Human Rights System

Solomon Dersso

281

THIRTEEN

Human Rights and Geopolitics in the Middle East, North Africa, and Afghanistan

Asli Ü. Bâli

308

Conclusions: Reforming, Rebuilding, Modernizing the International Human Rights System

Ana Lankes and Christopher Sabatini

333

Contributors 353

Index 357